YorkshireMaids 'at your service'

HUDDERSFIELD businessman Ghavam Nobakht has just launched a BRAND NEW high quality service.

YorkshireMaids offers a bespoke maid and handyman service aimed at busy professionals and local businesses who need help with the day to day demands of dealing with jobs around the home or the office.

Ghavam, who is also launching YorkshireMaids in both Leeds and Wakefield, comes from a background in facilities management and has first hand experience of working with many of the UK's top Blue Chip organisations.

"We understand the importance of providing great value for money and aim to create one point of call for everyone who needs help with general cleaning or maintenance issues around the home or the office, with complete focus on quality of service and customer care," said Ghavam.

YorkshireMaids is essentially a three-part business:

Maid service which is primarily aimed at the residential market and offers cleaning, ironing, food and grocery shopping, babysitting, dog walking, and help with parties, special occasions and office meetings.

Handyman service which offers general property repairs, furniture assembly, basic electrical and plumbing work, tiling, painting and wallpapering, garden maintenance and so on.

And a Commercial division which provides a one off or scheduled cleaning and building maintenance service for letting agents and landlords, offices, car showrooms, retail shops, supermarkets and property management companies. The business is currently working towards ISO 9001 Quality Management System and ISO 14001 Environmental Management System.

Joining the company is Nicola Walker who has run her own residential and commercial cleaning business for the last three years. Nicola will be responsible for operations and staff training, and brings a wealth of knowledge to the company as well as her much valued and loyal customer base.

Nicola said: "We strongly believe in supporting our local community and whenever possible, we recruit and train local people. We are always on the look out for good quality people and anyone interested in joining our business can apply through our website.

"We do however have a very rigorous recruitment process that includes meeting every applicant at home to confirm his or her identity and work status. This is followed by a CRB disclosure check and our in-house training programme, followed by regular monitoring and refresher training sessions to maintain our high standards".

YorkshireMaids is now open for business and ready to take care of all your daily chores around the home or the office. You can rely on YorkshireMaids to provide a professional and friendly service every time.

Helping you live your life

A unique high quality service for busy professionals who just don't have the time for the jobs around the house, or for those who want to spend their time doing the things they enjoy in life.

Our Maids...

Taking the kids to school, cleaning the house, doing the food and grocery shopping, taking the dog for a walk, and picking the kids up from school... It's all in a days work for our maids. Fully vetted, CRB checked, trained by ourselves to our standards and insured, you can rest assured that everything is taken care of by competent staff whilst you are busy or away from home.

Our Handymen...

Putting up a shelf, collecting and assembling a flat packed piece of furniture, replacing a faulty electric socket or light fitting, changing a lock, painting or maintaining the garden... let our professional handymen take the stress out of getting all the household jobs done in one visit and save you time and inconvenience.
