

Family fun day launches new look for Bodnant

THIS Saturday will see the unveiling of the refurbished and re-named Bodnant Garden Centre, with family fun and the chance to see the new look centre.

There will be a number of activities and offers throughout the day with a free customer prize draw, Alun string Quartet, free giveaways for children, face painting, food tasting, planting workshop, 50% discount on all plants this weekend and flower arranging by Deryl of Four Seasons.

The open day commences at 11.30am with the introduction of Bay of Colwyn Mayor Cllr Phil Edwards and Mayoress Suzanne Edwards, and the Right Honourable Michael McLaren QC, who will unveil Bodnant plant and gift centre with its new name Bodnant Garden Centre.

Situated adjacent to the stunning Bodnant Gardens, the centre, which is open all year round, is set in the most idyllic surroundings, and has a bespoke cobbled street which houses the craft units where you will find Tina Holley Studios, Italian World and Tipyn Bach Chocolatier.

There is also the Magnolia tea room for those wanting refreshments or the pavilion where you can purchase delicious lunches and relax after a walk around the garden.

The plant and gift centre has been given a new look recently with the introduction of new product ranges and a new layout. The centre hosts a wide variety of gifts which are both traditional and contemporary and for the keen gardener the Fallen Fruits potting shed is a must.

The new range of clothing is proving extremely popular and there is the Laura Ashley range of wellingtons and umbrellas for the fashion conscious gardener.

Plus with a new card shop, whatever the occasion you will find a greetings card with new ranges that will suit all.

Bodnant plant and gift centre hosts a wonderful range of seeds, bulbs, plants, trees and shrubs with some wonderful autumn colour available, and is very fortunate to have its own nursery where plants are propagated from cuttings taken from the garden.

Garden centre manager Linda Houghton believes that the name change is essential as the centre, which is open all year round, unlike the gardens which close in November, enters a new era.

Looking forward to the Christmas season Linda wants to inspire the public with the wonderful range of decorations in store. The centre also has fresh Christmas trees grown on the Bodnant Estate and wreaths that can be made up on-site whilst you wait. The centre can also provide larger non-needle drop Christmas trees, and if you need a 12' to 15' tree, order as soon as possible to avoid disappointment.

The staff at the centre are always keen to give advice if you need help with the latest colours or trends, plus there is a free gift wrap service, so why not take advantage?
