FOLLOWING an exciting expansion, March Hare Music is hitting all of the right notes!

One of North Wales' premier music stores, March Hare Music in Llandudno stocks an extensive range of high quality musical instruments and is now bigger and better than ever before.

Conveniently located on Oxford Road, the new store is over three times the size of its previous premises in Vaughan Street and whether you're a budding musician or musical prodigy, you'll find everything you could need right on your doorstep.

Come and take a look around the fantastic city centre-style shop yourself. With a huge selection of musical instruments, equipment and accessories, March Hare Music is dedicated to offering the very best products at incredibly competitive prices.

From acoustic pianos, Clavinovas, brass, woodwind, electric guitars and acoustic guitars, to drums, percussion, keyboards, accessories and printed music, the store offers a friendly service and just some of the top brands available include Taylor, Ovation, Freshman, Hoffner, Jackson and Fender.

What's more, March Hare Music is also a designated Yamaha Home World Centre, stocking the entire range of Yamaha keyboards and Clavinova digital piano products, complimented by a Yamaha Music School in Vaughan Street teaching the keyboard, guitar, drums and singing to both adults and children.

As a result, it's not just customers from Llandudno that March Hare Music attracts, and now the store has quickly become an essential destination for musical shoppers right across the region.

Plus, Gareth Hughes, owner and manager of March Hare Music, is also an accomplished pianist himself with a degree from the Royal Academy of Music in London, so you can rest assured that you will receive the best advice and expertise when shopping at March Hare Music.

He said: "I'm confident that we offer the best selection of instruments in North Wales – as well as some of the best prices in the UK. We can, and regularly do, compete with the internet and are proud to have very highly qualified staff who can offer advice you can trust, as well as a personal and dedicated service."
