

Christmas Party Time

Advertising feature

BELIEVE it or not but the countdown to Christmas 2008 has begun. With the kids back at school and summer a distant memory, the festive season is now just around the corner once again. Make sure this Christmas is the most memorable one yet by booking your festive party now - the best places get booked up early so act now and avoid disappointment later!

Whether you are looking to organise a full on office party for 100 people, a family reunion for 20 relatives or something more intimate, there is a venue to suit every taste and budget. And from a traditional roast to something completely different, there is also a vast array of choice out there.

So do your homework and check out the venue beforehand so you know what you are getting, and then sit back, relax and enjoy a Christmas party to remember.
